

TERRITORIAL ENTERPRISE

Saturday, March 2, 1872

THE GARDEN OF CHILDHOOD

I know a garden of childhood,
A garden of childhood,
There is sunshine within the roses,
And stars glow in the gloom.
I know the pathway turn by turn,
For back in the long ago
I used to chase the butterfly there,
And watch for the roses to bloom.

How balmy sweet, in the olden time,
The breath of those dainty flowers;
And the lights fell with a silvery chiming
To sleep in the golden hours.
And the little feet to love me there,
To sleep in the golden hours.
To hold me back in the pathway fair,
For they knew the days were fleet.

As the lilacs paled and died away,
And the roses faded to a red,
I am left in the evening;
To sleep in the golden hours.
I know the garden to be so well,
I never may enter there,
But by moon and starlight, I will go,
To sleep in the golden hours.

Step down through the gilded blossoms
With their faces all aglow,
And I look back through broken days,
To that time when I was so;
And I wonder off and on again,
If the lilacs and the roses
To the little children in their flight
As they did when I was there.

I wonder now if the yellow gold
In the wings of the butterflies
(I used to think them floating stars
Laying in the silvery haze)
Spills down on the little cups of dew,
As they drift away in the light,
To find their homes in the warm of blue,
Asleep on the verge of night.

O! I am sad, so sad at heart,
For they cannot bring me back
The happy days of childhood,
Or the sweetest life may lack.
I know the path to the garden,
But the children are not there;
Passing me by as I sit alone,
And weep in the evening's gloom.

The Illustrated London News, of January 10, contains a full and complete description of a painting in the Dudley Gallery, by John Everett Millais, of the picture of a boy and a girl, painted by the artist, as well as sculptors, are manifesting the good-naturedness of their race, and many of them are distinguished by rare and original qualities.

CURIOUS AND ABANDON, if true! It is said that the proprietors of the Russell House, in Detroit, were offered $200,000 for the house, on which Alexis St. Martin, and the child, were buried in almost unbroken silence for years. The child, who was a white man, was said to have been found by a hunter and sold to a dealer in human beings.

ARRANGEMENTS are being consummated for the speedy completion and dedication of the National Monument to President Lincoln. All that still remains to be done is to erect the statue of the President, which is to be placed in the center of the monument. The statue is to be made of bronze, and will be the work of a famous sculptor.

A GEORGIA dandy, to whom Senator Sumner's supplementary Civil Rights bill was explained, characterized it as "a trap to kill niggers." "You see, said some fool nigger will go to the Pulaski House, and get himself killed by a white man, and the white man will get for it as much as he would for a nigger and broke his neck."

QUEEN CHARLOTTE's necklace, of well-known antiquity, the most perfect in existence, was valued, when worn by her, at $2,000; at present it would not command as many shillings, so great has been the depreciation of late years. The necklace is of the most valuable materials, and is in the possession of the Queen.

R. ROGERS, having completed the Soldiers' Monument at Detroit, recently left on a brief visit to his friends in New York. He will return immediately to Detroit. He has been ordered for a Soldier's Monument at Worcester, Mass., to cost $50,000, and his first work was returning to Detroit with the completion of the figures for the monument.

As strange as it may seem, the United States possesses more than 50,000 miles of railroad, more than any other country in the world. Great Britain follows the United States with 16,000 miles; Germany, 12,000; France, 10,000; Russia, 8,000; Austria, 4,000; Spain, 3,700; Italy, 3,400; Belgium, 2,900; Holland, 1,000.

He has been seen to trail this time on which everyone will bid him "God speed." He is after the Harlem milk dealers. The raid is not less in the interest of the public, which were found in a deplorable condition, than the consumers of their lactical products.

THE Boston Transcript says: "Recent occurrences in this city should teach rich men the importance of signing their checks as they are written out, if they do not want undue excitement and disreputable proceedings around their dying beds."

A very smart telegraph operator in Arkansas sent a dispatch to a Memphis firm instructing them, as they were to send him a box, to put $300 in one Morgan, and then to Memphis, he claimed to be Morgan and received the money.

Six months in Maryland considered to be the extreme length of time that an engagement should exist before marriage. For a single person has visited the Rev. Mr. Watson, who is a very good man, since his conviction, it is said.

The total cost of the coronation attendant on the inauguration of the late Lord Mayor of London amounted to $1,000,000. The Lord Mayor, who is a very good man, since his conviction, it is said.

A CTUAL lady, rather inclined to flirt, says most men are like a cat, very easily caught, and very difficult to get rid of. A MARIAGE bled of Governor Chamberlain, of Maine, is soon to be set up in the State Capitol, at Augusta.

MASSACHUSETTS DIRECTORY

HALL ON B STREET NORTH OF UNION
J. W. BEECHER, Secy.
J. W. BEECHER, Secy.
J. W. BEECHER, Secy.

VIRGINIA LODGE NO. 3, F. & A. M. - State of Virginia, Second Year, 1871-72. Meetings every Friday evening at 7 o'clock. Communications First, Third and Fourth Saturdays evening at 7 o'clock.
J. W. BEECHER, Secy.

VIRGINIA CHAPTER OF F. & A. M. NO. 2 - State of Virginia, Second Year, 1871-72. Meetings every Friday evening at 7 o'clock. Communications First, Third and Fourth Saturdays evening at 7 o'clock.
J. W. BEECHER, Secy.

VIRGINIA COUNCIL OF F. & A. M. NO. 1 - State of Virginia, Second Year, 1871-72. Meetings every Friday evening at 7 o'clock. Communications First, Third and Fourth Saturdays evening at 7 o'clock.
J. W. BEECHER, Secy.

DE WITTS TEMPLE - State of Virginia, Second Year, 1871-72. Meetings every Friday evening at 7 o'clock. Communications First, Third and Fourth Saturdays evening at 7 o'clock.
J. W. BEECHER, Secy.

CHAMPION LODGE NO. 1, F. & A. M. - State of Virginia, Second Year, 1871-72. Meetings every Friday evening at 7 o'clock. Communications First, Third and Fourth Saturdays evening at 7 o'clock.
J. W. BEECHER, Secy.

PIONEER LODGE NO. 1, F. & A. M. - State of Virginia, Second Year, 1871-72. Meetings every Friday evening at 7 o'clock. Communications First, Third and Fourth Saturdays evening at 7 o'clock.
J. W. BEECHER, Secy.

CHAMPION LODGE NO. 1, F. & A. M. - State of Virginia, Second Year, 1871-72. Meetings every Friday evening at 7 o'clock. Communications First, Third and Fourth Saturdays evening at 7 o'clock.
J. W. BEECHER, Secy.

CHAMPION LODGE NO. 1, F. & A. M. - State of Virginia, Second Year, 1871-72. Meetings every Friday evening at 7 o'clock. Communications First, Third and Fourth Saturdays evening at 7 o'clock.
J. W. BEECHER, Secy.

THE WEEKLY ENTERPRISE

Saturday, March 2, 1872

THE GARDEN OF CHILDHOOD

I know a garden of childhood,
A garden of childhood,
There is sunshine within the roses,
And stars glow in the gloom.
I know the pathway turn by turn,
For back in the long ago
I used to chase the butterfly there,
And watch for the roses to bloom.

How balmy sweet, in the olden time,
The breath of those dainty flowers;
And the lights fell with a silvery chiming
To sleep in the golden hours.
And the little feet to love me there,
To sleep in the golden hours.
To hold me back in the pathway fair,
For they knew the days were fleet.

As the lilacs paled and died away,
And the roses faded to a red,
I am left in the evening;
To sleep in the golden hours.
I know the garden to be so well,
I never may enter there,
But by moon and starlight, I will go,
To sleep in the golden hours.

Step down through the gilded blossoms
With their faces all aglow,
And I look back through broken days,
To that time when I was so;
And I wonder off and on again,
If the lilacs and the roses
To the little children in their flight
As they did when I was there.

I wonder now if the yellow gold
In the wings of the butterflies
(I used to think them floating stars
Laying in the silvery haze)
Spills down on the little cups of dew,
As they drift away in the light,
To find their homes in the warm of blue,
Asleep on the verge of night.

O! I am sad, so sad at heart,
For they cannot bring me back
The happy days of childhood,
Or the sweetest life may lack.
I know the path to the garden,
But the children are not there;
Passing me by as I sit alone,
And weep in the evening's gloom.

The Illustrated London News, of January 10, contains a full and complete description of a painting in the Dudley Gallery, by John Everett Millais, of the picture of a boy and a girl, painted by the artist, as well as sculptors, are manifesting the good-naturedness of their race, and many of them are distinguished by rare and original qualities.

CURIOUS AND ABANDON, if true! It is said that the proprietors of the Russell House, in Detroit, were offered $200,000 for the house, on which Alexis St. Martin, and the child, were buried in almost unbroken silence for years. The child, who was a white man, was said to have been found by a hunter and sold to a dealer in human beings.

ARRANGEMENTS are being consummated for the speedy completion and dedication of the National Monument to President Lincoln. All that still remains to be done is to erect the statue of the President, which is to be placed in the center of the monument. The statue is to be made of bronze, and will be the work of a famous sculptor.

A GEORGIA dandy, to whom Senator Sumner's supplementary Civil Rights bill was explained, characterized it as "a trap to kill niggers." "You see, said some fool nigger will go to the Pulaski House, and get himself killed by a white man, and the white man will get for it as much as he would for a nigger and broke his neck."

QUEEN CHARLOTTE's necklace, of well-known antiquity, the most perfect in existence, was valued, when worn by her, at $2,000; at present it would not command as many shillings, so great has been the depreciation of late years. The necklace is of the most valuable materials, and is in the possession of the Queen.

R. ROGERS, having completed the Soldiers' Monument at Detroit, recently left on a brief visit to his friends in New York. He will return immediately to Detroit. He has been ordered for a Soldier's Monument at Worcester, Mass., to cost $50,000, and his first work was returning to Detroit with the completion of the figures for the monument.

As strange as it may seem, the United States possesses more than 50,000 miles of railroad, more than any other country in the world. Great Britain follows the United States with 16,000 miles; Germany, 12,000; France, 10,000; Russia, 8,000; Austria, 4,000; Spain, 3,700; Italy, 3,400; Belgium, 2,900; Holland, 1,000.

He has been seen to trail this time on which everyone will bid him "God speed." He is after the Harlem milk dealers. The raid is not less in the interest of the public, which were found in a deplorable condition, than the consumers of their lactical products.

THE Boston Transcript says: "Recent occurrences in this city should teach rich men the importance of signing their checks as they are written out, if they do not want undue excitement and disreputable proceedings around their dying beds."

A very smart telegraph operator in Arkansas sent a dispatch to a Memphis firm instructing them, as they were to send him a box, to put $300 in one Morgan, and then to Memphis, he claimed to be Morgan and received the money.

Six months in Maryland considered to be the extreme length of time that an engagement should exist before marriage. For a single person has visited the Rev. Mr. Watson, who is a very good man, since his conviction, it is said.

The total cost of the coronation attendant on the inauguration of the late Lord Mayor of London amounted to $1,000,000. The Lord Mayor, who is a very good man, since his conviction, it is said.

A CTUAL lady, rather inclined to flirt, says most men are like a cat, very easily caught, and very difficult to get rid of. A MARIAGE bled of Governor Chamberlain, of Maine, is soon to be set up in the State Capitol, at Augusta.

MASSACHUSETTS DIRECTORY

HALL ON B STREET NORTH OF UNION
J. W. BEECHER, Secy.
J. W. BEECHER, Secy.
J. W. BEECHER, Secy.

VIRGINIA LODGE NO. 3, F. & A. M. - State of Virginia, Second Year, 1871-72. Meetings every Friday evening at 7 o'clock. Communications First, Third and Fourth Saturdays evening at 7 o'clock.
J. W. BEECHER, Secy.

VIRGINIA CHAPTER OF F. & A. M. NO. 2 - State of Virginia, Second Year, 1871-72. Meetings every Friday evening at 7 o'clock. Communications First, Third and Fourth Saturdays evening at 7 o'clock.
J. W. BEECHER, Secy.

VIRGINIA COUNCIL OF F. & A. M. NO. 1 - State of Virginia, Second Year, 1871-72. Meetings every Friday evening at 7 o'clock. Communications First, Third and Fourth Saturdays evening at 7 o'clock.
J. W. BEECHER, Secy.

DE WITTS TEMPLE - State of Virginia, Second Year, 1871-72. Meetings every Friday evening at 7 o'clock. Communications First, Third and Fourth Saturdays evening at 7 o'clock.
J. W. BEECHER, Secy.

CHAMPION LODGE NO. 1, F. & A. M. - State of Virginia, Second Year, 1871-72. Meetings every Friday evening at 7 o'clock. Communications First, Third and Fourth Saturdays evening at 7 o'clock.
J. W. BEECHER, Secy.

PIONEER LODGE NO. 1, F. & A. M. - State of Virginia, Second Year, 1871-72. Meetings every Friday evening at 7 o'clock. Communications First, Third and Fourth Saturdays evening at 7 o'clock.
J. W. BEECHER, Secy.

CHAMPION LODGE NO. 1, F. & A. M. - State of Virginia, Second Year, 1871-72. Meetings every Friday evening at 7 o'clock. Communications First, Third and Fourth Saturdays evening at 7 o'clock.
J. W. BEECHER, Secy.

CHAMPION LODGE NO. 1, F. & A. M. - State of Virginia, Second Year, 1871-72. Meetings every Friday evening at 7 o'clock. Communications First, Third and Fourth Saturdays evening at 7 o'clock.
J. W. BEECHER, Secy.

MISCELLANEOUS

Saturday, March 2, 1872

THE GARDEN OF CHILDHOOD

I know a garden of childhood,
A garden of childhood,
There is sunshine within the roses,
And stars glow in the gloom.
I know the pathway turn by turn,
For back in the long ago
I used to chase the butterfly there,
And watch for the roses to bloom.

How balmy sweet, in the olden time,
The breath of those dainty flowers;
And the lights fell with a silvery chiming
To sleep in the golden hours.
And the little feet to love me there,
To sleep in the golden hours.
To hold me back in the pathway fair,
For they knew the days were fleet.

As the lilacs paled and died away,
And the roses faded to a red,
I am left in the evening;
To sleep in the golden hours.
I know the garden to be so well,
I never may enter there,
But by moon and starlight, I will go,
To sleep in the golden hours.

Step down through the gilded blossoms
With their faces all aglow,
And I look back through broken days,
To that time when I was so;
And I wonder off and on again,
If the lilacs and the roses
To the little children in their flight
As they did when I was there.

I wonder now if the yellow gold
In the wings of the butterflies
(I used to think them floating stars
Laying in the silvery haze)
Spills down on the little cups of dew,
As they drift away in the light,
To find their homes in the warm of blue,
Asleep on the verge of night.

O! I am sad, so sad at heart,
For they cannot bring me back
The happy days of childhood,
Or the sweetest life may lack.
I know the path to the garden,
But the children are not there;
Passing me by as I sit alone,
And weep in the evening's gloom.

The Illustrated London News, of January 10, contains a full and complete description of a painting in the Dudley Gallery, by John Everett Millais, of the picture of a boy and a girl, painted by the artist, as well as sculptors, are manifesting the good-naturedness of their race, and many of them are distinguished by rare and original qualities.

CURIOUS AND ABANDON, if true! It is said that the proprietors of the Russell House, in Detroit, were offered $200,000 for the house, on which Alexis St. Martin, and the child, were buried in almost unbroken silence for years. The child, who was a white man, was said to have been found by a hunter and sold to a dealer in human beings.

ARRANGEMENTS are being consummated for the speedy completion and dedication of the National Monument to President Lincoln. All that still remains to be done is to erect the statue of the President, which is to be placed in the center of the monument. The statue is to be made of bronze, and will be the work of a famous sculptor.

A GEORGIA dandy, to whom Senator Sumner's supplementary Civil Rights bill was explained, characterized it as "a trap to kill niggers." "You see, said some fool nigger will go to the Pulaski House, and get himself killed by a white man, and the white man will get for it as much as he would for a nigger and broke his neck."

QUEEN CHARLOTTE's necklace, of well-known antiquity, the most perfect in existence, was valued, when worn by her, at $2,000; at present it would not command as many shillings, so great has been the depreciation of late years. The necklace is of the most valuable materials, and is in the possession of the Queen.

R. ROGERS, having completed the Soldiers' Monument at Detroit, recently left on a brief visit to his friends in New York. He will return immediately to Detroit. He has been ordered for a Soldier's Monument at Worcester, Mass., to cost $50,000, and his first work was returning to Detroit with the completion of the figures for the monument.

As strange as it may seem, the United States possesses more than 50,000 miles of railroad, more than any other country in the world. Great Britain follows the United States with 16,000 miles; Germany, 12,000; France, 10,000; Russia, 8,000; Austria, 4,000; Spain, 3,700; Italy, 3,400; Belgium, 2,900; Holland, 1,000.

He has been seen to trail this time on which everyone will bid him "God speed." He is after the Harlem milk dealers. The raid is not less in the interest of the public, which were found in a deplorable condition, than the consumers of their lactical products.

THE Boston Transcript says: "Recent occurrences in this city should teach rich men the importance of signing their checks as they are written out, if they do not want undue excitement and disreputable proceedings around their dying beds."

A very smart telegraph operator in Arkansas sent a dispatch to a Memphis firm instructing them, as they were to send him a box, to put $300 in one Morgan, and then to Memphis, he claimed to be Morgan and received the money.

Six months in Maryland considered to be the extreme length of time that an engagement should exist before marriage. For a single person has visited the Rev. Mr. Watson, who is a very good man, since his conviction, it is said.

The total cost of the coronation attendant on the inauguration of the late Lord Mayor of London amounted to $1,000,000. The Lord Mayor, who is a very good man, since his conviction, it is said.

A CTUAL lady, rather inclined to flirt, says most men are like a cat, very easily caught, and very difficult to get rid of. A MARIAGE bled of Governor Chamberlain, of Maine, is soon to be set up in the State Capitol, at Augusta.

MASSACHUSETTS DIRECTORY

HALL ON B STREET NORTH OF UNION
J. W. BEECHER, Secy.
J. W. BEECHER, Secy.
J. W. BEECHER, Secy.

VIRGINIA LODGE NO. 3, F. & A. M. - State of Virginia, Second Year, 1871-72. Meetings every Friday evening at 7 o'clock. Communications First, Third and Fourth Saturdays evening at 7 o'clock.
J. W. BEECHER, Secy.

VIRGINIA CHAPTER OF F. & A. M. NO. 2 - State of Virginia, Second Year, 1871-72. Meetings every Friday evening at 7 o'clock. Communications First, Third and Fourth Saturdays evening at 7 o'clock.
J. W. BEECHER, Secy.

VIRGINIA COUNCIL OF F. & A. M. NO. 1 - State of Virginia, Second Year, 1871-72. Meetings every Friday evening at 7 o'clock. Communications First, Third and Fourth Saturdays evening at 7 o'clock.
J. W. BEECHER, Secy.

DE WITTS TEMPLE - State of Virginia, Second Year, 1871-72. Meetings every Friday evening at 7 o'clock. Communications First, Third and Fourth Saturdays evening at 7 o'clock.
J. W. BEECHER, Secy.

CHAMPION LODGE NO. 1, F. & A. M. - State of Virginia, Second Year, 1871-72. Meetings every Friday evening at 7 o'clock. Communications First, Third and Fourth Saturdays evening at 7 o'clock.
J. W. BEECHER, Secy.

PIONEER LODGE NO. 1, F. & A. M. - State of Virginia, Second Year, 1871-72. Meetings every Friday evening at 7 o'clock. Communications First, Third and Fourth Saturdays evening at 7 o'clock.
J. W. BEECHER, Secy.

CHAMPION LODGE NO. 1, F. & A. M. - State of Virginia, Second Year, 1871-72. Meetings every Friday evening at 7 o'clock. Communications First, Third and Fourth Saturdays evening at 7 o'clock.
J. W. BEECHER, Secy.

CHAMPION LODGE NO. 1, F. & A. M. - State of Virginia, Second Year, 1871-72. Meetings every Friday evening at 7 o'clock. Communications First, Third and Fourth Saturdays evening at 7 o'clock.
J. W. BEECHER, Secy.

DRUGS, PAINTS, OILS ETC.

Saturday, March 2, 1872

THE GARDEN OF CHILDHOOD

I know a garden of childhood,
A garden of childhood,
There is sunshine within the roses,
And stars glow in the gloom.
I know the pathway turn by turn,
For back in the long ago
I used to chase the butterfly there,
And watch for the roses to bloom.

How balmy sweet, in the olden time,
The breath of those dainty flowers;
And the lights fell with a silvery chiming
To sleep in the golden hours.
And the little feet to love me there,
To sleep in the golden hours.
To hold me back in the pathway fair,
For they knew the days were fleet.

As the lilacs paled and died away,
And the roses faded to a red,
I am left in the evening;
To sleep in the golden hours.
I know the garden to be so well,
I never may enter there,
But by moon and starlight, I will go,
To sleep in the golden hours.

Step down through the gilded blossoms
With their faces all aglow,
And I look back through broken days,
To that time when I was so;
And I wonder off and on again,
If the lilacs and the roses
To the little children in their flight
As they did when I was there.

I wonder now if the yellow gold
In the wings of the butterflies
(I used to think them floating stars
Laying in the silvery haze)
Spills down on the little cups of dew,
As they drift away in the light,
To find their homes in the warm of blue,
Asleep on the verge of night.

O! I am sad, so sad at heart,
For they cannot bring me back
The happy days of childhood,
Or the sweetest life may lack.
I know the path to the garden,
But the children are not there;
Passing me by as I sit alone,
And weep in the evening's gloom.

The Illustrated London News, of January 10, contains a full and complete description of a painting in the Dudley Gallery, by John Everett Millais, of the picture of a boy and a girl, painted by the artist, as well as sculptors, are manifesting the good-naturedness of their race, and many of them are distinguished by rare and original qualities.

CURIOUS AND ABANDON, if true! It is said that the proprietors of the Russell House, in Detroit, were offered $200,000 for the house, on which Alexis St. Martin, and the child, were buried in almost unbroken silence for years. The child, who was a white man, was said to have been found by a hunter and sold to a dealer in human beings.

ARRANGEMENTS are being consummated for the speedy completion and dedication of the National Monument to President Lincoln. All that still remains to be done is to erect the statue of the President, which is to be placed in the center of the monument. The statue is to be made of bronze, and will be the work of a famous sculptor.

A GEORGIA dandy, to whom Senator Sumner's supplementary Civil Rights bill was explained, characterized it as "a trap to kill niggers." "You see, said some fool nigger will go to the Pulaski House, and get himself killed by a white man, and the white man will get for it as much as he would for a nigger and broke his neck."

QUEEN CHARLOTTE's necklace, of well-known antiquity, the most perfect in existence, was valued, when worn by her, at $2,000; at present it would not command as many shillings, so great has been the depreciation of late years. The necklace is of the most valuable materials, and is in the possession of the Queen.

R. ROGERS, having completed the Soldiers' Monument at Detroit, recently left on a brief visit to his friends in New York. He will return immediately to Detroit. He has been ordered for a Soldier's Monument at Worcester, Mass., to cost $50,000, and his first work was returning to Detroit with the completion of the figures for the monument.

As strange as it may seem, the United States possesses more than 50,000 miles of railroad, more than any other country in the world. Great Britain follows the United States with 16,000 miles; Germany, 12,000; France, 10,000; Russia, 8,000; Austria, 4,000; Spain, 3,700; Italy, 3,400; Belgium, 2,900; Holland, 1,000.

He has been seen to trail this time on which everyone will bid him "God speed." He is after the Harlem milk dealers. The raid is not less in the interest of the public, which were found in a deplorable condition, than the consumers of their lactical products.

THE Boston Transcript says: "Recent occurrences in this city should teach rich men the importance of signing their checks as they are written out, if they do not want undue excitement and disreputable proceedings around their dying beds."

A very smart telegraph operator in Arkansas sent a dispatch to a Memphis firm instructing them, as they were to send him a box, to put $300 in one Morgan, and then to Memphis, he claimed to be Morgan and received the money.

Six months in Maryland considered to be the extreme length of time that an engagement should exist before marriage. For a single person has visited the Rev. Mr. Watson, who is a very good man, since his conviction, it is said.

The total cost of the coronation attendant on the inauguration of the late Lord Mayor of London amounted to $1,000,000. The Lord Mayor, who is a very good man, since his conviction, it is said.

A CTUAL lady, rather inclined to flirt, says most men are like a cat, very easily caught, and very difficult to get rid of. A MARIAGE bled of Governor Chamberlain, of Maine, is soon to be set up in the State Capitol, at Augusta.

MASSACHUSETTS DIRECTORY

HALL ON B STREET NORTH OF UNION
J. W. BEECHER, Secy.
J. W. BEECHER, Secy.
J. W. BEECHER, Secy.

VIRGINIA LODGE NO. 3, F. & A. M. - State of Virginia, Second Year, 1871-72. Meetings every Friday evening at 7 o'clock. Communications First, Third and Fourth Saturdays evening at 7 o'clock.
J. W. BEECHER, Secy.

VIRGINIA CHAPTER OF F. & A. M. NO. 2 - State of Virginia, Second Year, 1871-72. Meetings every Friday evening at 7 o'clock. Communications First, Third and Fourth Saturdays evening at 7 o'clock.
J. W. BEECHER, Secy.

VIRGINIA COUNCIL OF F. & A. M. NO. 1 - State of Virginia, Second Year, 1871-72. Meetings every Friday evening at 7 o'clock. Communications First, Third and Fourth Saturdays evening at 7 o'clock.
J. W. BEECHER, Secy.

DE WITTS TEMPLE - State of Virginia, Second Year, 1871-72. Meetings every Friday evening at 7 o'clock. Communications First, Third and Fourth Saturdays evening at 7 o'clock.
J. W. BEECHER, Secy.

CHAMPION LODGE NO. 1, F. & A. M. - State of Virginia, Second Year, 1871-72. Meetings every Friday evening at 7 o'clock. Communications First, Third and Fourth Saturdays evening at 7 o'clock.
J. W. BEECHER, Secy.